C What?

This site is intended to provide information about the Liner Notes that come with CDs. Some times it's just a single sheet of paper, sometimes it's a hefty booklet. With this site you can find this information out. There are lots of sites out there concerned with the music in an album, but very little information about the materials that come with the album itself, and this information is not centralized at all.

Why?

Technology has gotten to the point where you no longer need to go to the store, real or virtual, to purchase music, yet people still do and they pay up to twice the price that they would compared to purchasing the music on iTunes. The difference between a physical album and what iTunes gives you is the CD and the Liner Notes. While you can make your own CD from iTunes, you can't get the Liner Notes and some are worth the extra cost.

So this site is intended to provide information about the quality of a particular albums Liner Notes so that you can then decide if it's worth paying the extra money for them and buy the physical album, or not and buy it through iTunes.

This site is inspired by my desire for this sort of information so I can stop wasting my money when I don't feel it is worth it, and so I don't buy something on iTunes when I'll just miss out on some cool extras from the Liner Notes.
